

Quality

The market for healthcare products and services is not tolerant of poor quality, and that is the way it should be. Unfortunately, from time to time, unsafe products do enter the system; whereby both patients and professionals are exposed and violated.

Curas is very clear about the responsibility: We need to go to great lengths in ensuring that products and services are tested, reliable and as intended.

Together with our partners we ensure high quality and safe use. You should expect nothing less.

If you want to see how we screen and select our suppliers, please look at this file: supplier.pdf